FREE SESSIONS	DATES
Supervising: So, You're a Manager Now Stepping up to, a management role requires a change of behavior. As with any other skill, success requires becoming familiar with the tools of the trade and developing the necessary ability to use these tools to effectively achieve results. These two half-day sessions will give you the basics of supervising others.	November 19 & 26, 2020 9:00 a.m. to Noon
Human Capital: Developing Your People Strategy A comprehensive approach to managing and growing the strengths of your people has a significant and positive impact. Surveys and longitudinal studies show there's a direct link between an effective people strategy and an organization's long-term success. These two half-day sessions will show you how to design and develop a people strategy that will support community aims and objectives.	January 21 & 28, 2021 9:00 a.m. to Noon
Coaching Your Employees for Success Great coaches understand what is required to support individuals to realize their gaps, and to create positive action plans to help them close them. This experiential workshop will help participants understand the basics of building a strong, supportive and effective coaching relationship.	February 11 & 18, 2021 9:00 a.m. to Noon
Shepherding Change Through Difficult Conversations This session is designed to teach leaders how to conduct difficult conversations. If you and a colleague or client are not getting along, or you have staff members who are conflicted, or don't deal with conflict well, the not so surprising news is that you and / or they are not alone.	March 25 & April 1, 2021 9:00 a.m. to Noon

Maximum 20 participants per session so don't delay, register today!
